Meetings of bodies covered by the law must be announced in one of two ways. The first is posting of a notice of the time and place of any meeting in two appropriate places, at least 24 hours in advance of the meeting. An alternative method is to indicate the subject matter place notice of the time and location in a newspaper of general circulation in the town. Notice must indicate the subject matter to be discussed at the meeting. Actions taken by the body may later be declared invalid if proper notifications of the meeting to the public was not provided.
